Alone At Christmas

In this monologue, LENNY, aged 16, was evicted from his house during Christmas time after his family had passed away. He realises that Christmas is more important than just presents. It's about something a lot more meaningful.

Characters - Lenny. 16 years old. Male.

Genre - Dramatic

As Used In "Alone: A Christmas Musical" By Scott Cartwright

LENNY

Y'know... It was all good when I 'ad a family.. But they're still 'ere.

(Places his hand on his heart.)

Family ain't something that just comes and goes as it pleases. No. You get the odd idiot who thinks that way, but they're wrong. Mine left me. Well, nearly all mine did. But don't mean they're gone forever. Family is special. It's Christmas Eve-Eve. The night before children start getting excited about that fat man and his reindeer coming to visit. They think if they leave a mince pie out for 'im, he's gonna give 'em presents. I 'ighly doubt it though. It's usually whose been good and whose been bad.
